Creag Meagaidh

Avalanche Hazard Forecast

Issued 11/01/2024

FOR PERIOD 18:00HRS Thu 11/01/2024 TO 18:00HRS Fri 12/01/2024

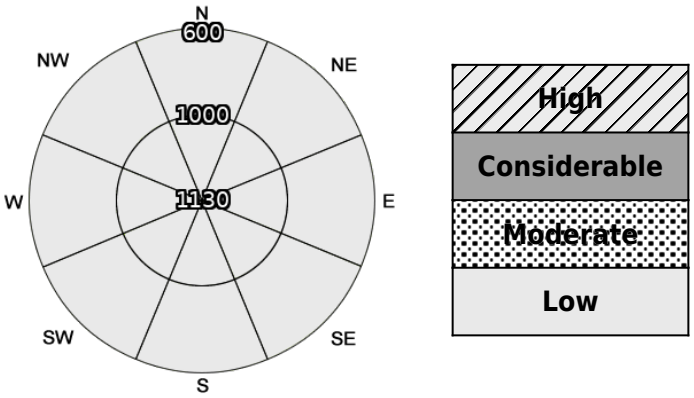
THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Friday 12/01/2024

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Little change is expected in the snowpack, which will remain firm and generally stable. Some shallow and localised deposits of windslab will persist, mainly on North-West to North-East aspects above 1000 metres. The avalanche hazard will be Low.



Forecast Weather Influences

Winds will be light North-Easterly during the evening, becoming Westerly overnight and gradually increasing to moderate during the day. It will remain dry. Multiple inversions will produce an ill-defined freezing level.

Comments

Ice on many water courses, paths and hillsides.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.