Creag Meagaidh

Avalanche Hazard Forecast

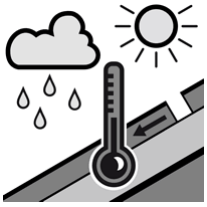
Issued 01/02/2024

FOR PERIOD 18:00HRS Thu 01/02/2024 TO 18:00HRS Fri 02/02/2024

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Friday 02/02/2024

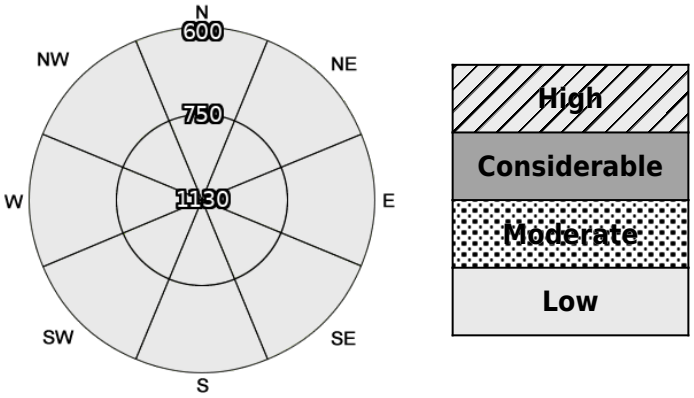
Avalanche Problems



Wet Snow

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Any fresh lying snow will disappear but some surface instabilities will be possible on all steep slopes overnight. The old snowpack which lies mostly on North-East to South-East aspects above 750 metres will be moist but stable. The avalanche hazard will be Low.



Forecast Weather Influences

Winds will be West-South-Westerly storm force throughout the forecast period. The freezing level will be well above the summits. Precipitation will be persistent rain at all levels.

Comments

A stormy and wet day in prospect for friday. Freezing level lowering from Saturday

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.