Creag Meagaidh

Avalanche Hazard Forecast

Issued 13/04/2024

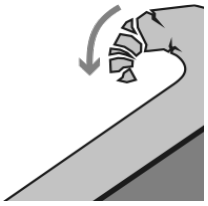
FOR PERIOD 18:00HRS Sat 13/04/2024 TO 18:00HRS Sun 14/04/2024

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 14/04/2024

Avalanche Problems

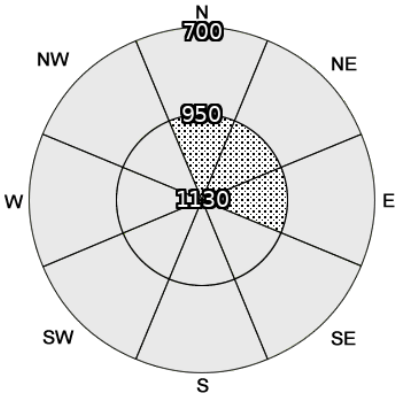
Wind Slab

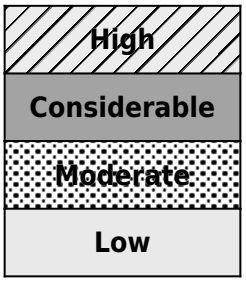


Cornices

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

New moderately stabilised windslab expected on steep North to East aspects. Initially affecting only coire rims and gully tops, later becoming more widespread down to 950m. Some minor new cornice development over steepest lee slopes. The old exposed snowpack in all other locations will refreeze and be well stabilised. Covering of fresh snow down to 800m. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate





Forecast Weather Influences

Snow showers throughout the forecast period. Colder: freezing at 800m but rising to 1000m by the end of the day. Strong West later South-West winds.

Comments

Last report and forecast of the season.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.