Torridon

Avalanche Hazard Forecast

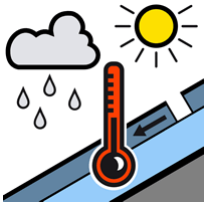
Issued 16/12/2021

FOR PERIOD 18:00HRS Thu 16/12/2021 TO 18:00HRS Fri 17/12/2021

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Friday 17/12/2021

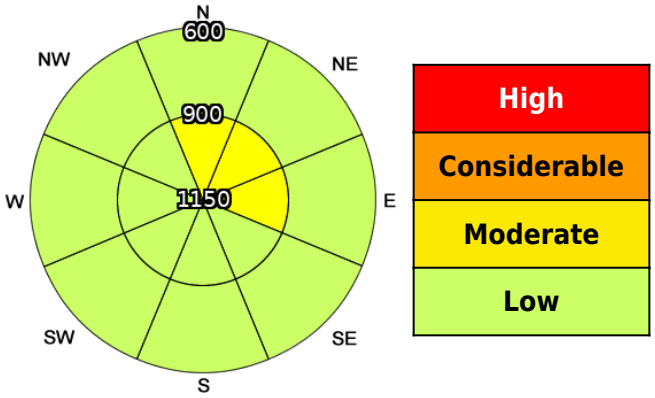
Avalanche Problems



Wet Snow

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The increasingly patchy snowpack will continue to thaw and deplete. The most snow will remain above 800 metres on North through East to Southerly aspects. The avalanche hazard will be Low.



Forecast Weather Influences

The mild temperatures will continue with freezing levels remaining above the summits. The strong South-West winds will gradually decrease in strength to become fresh South-South-Westerly. Little or no precipitation is expected.

Comments

The high pressure will continue to dominate.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.