

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Saturday 16/04/2022

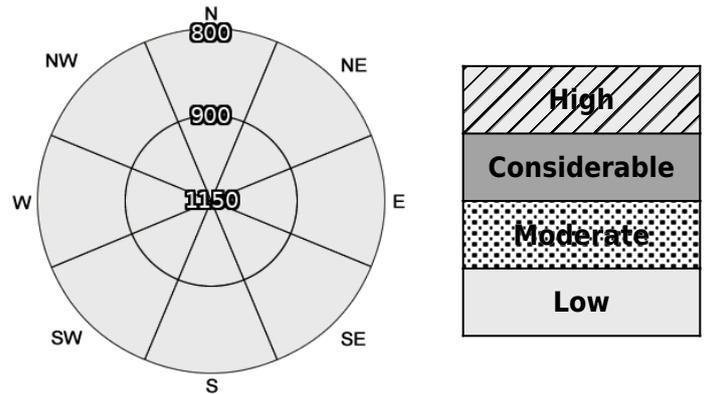

Avalanche Problems

Cornices

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Mild conditions overnight and tomorrow will maintain a soft and moist snowpack at all levels. The snowpack stability will remain generally good in most locations. Remaining cornices will be prone to collapse. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

Remaining mild with the freezing above the summits. Winds will be fresh, South-South-Easterly veering to Southerly during the day. Largely dry, although a few light showers are possible.

Comments

Mild conditions through the week-end.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.