

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Friday 09/12/2022

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Little change is expected within the snowpack. Patches of refrozen stable and icy snow will remain mainly above 900 metres on North to East aspects. A slight dusting of fresh snow will exist on all aspects. However, this will not be significant. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

Little change is expected with the weather. It will remain cold and generally dry with light winds.

Comments

Areas of water ice are a slip hazard.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.