

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 27/12/2022

Avalanche Problems

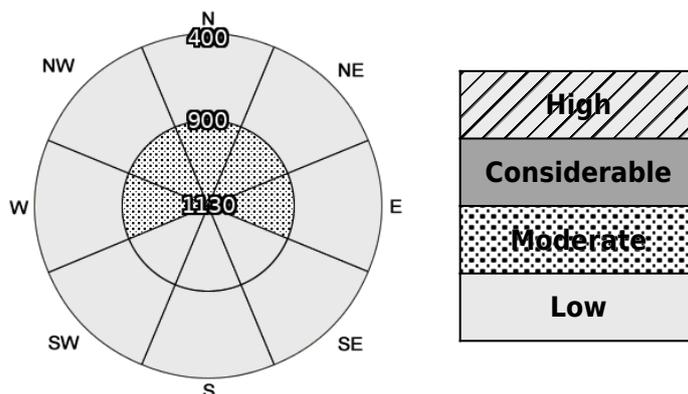

Wind Slab

Cornices

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Initially, weak windslab on steep North to East aspects above 900m. After overnight wind shift, new marginally stabilised windslab will begin to develop on steep North to West aspects above same altitude. Early consolidation in all snow by the end of the afternoon. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate

Forecast Weather Influences

Snow showers tapering out overnight but returning mid morning. Initially cold but freezing level rising progressively to near summits by early afternoon. Strong Westerly winds becoming South Easterly later.

Comments

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.