

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 21/02/2023

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The snowpack will continue to thaw and consolidate at all levels. Snowpack stability will be generally good. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

Rain and light drizzle is expected to continue with the freezing level remaining above the summits. Moderate to strong South-Westerly winds over the summits.

Comments

Hazard of falling ice and rocks from steeper ground continues due to the thaw conditions.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.