

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 30/03/2025

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

There is currently insufficient snow for an avalanche hazard and no avalanche reports will be published until conditions change. For further information please refer to the SAIS mountain blog.

Forecast Weather Influences

Light showers in the early part of the forecast period will be snow only on the very highest summits and clear to give dry conditions. The freezing level will be around 1000 metres rising above the summits in the afternoon. Gale force Westerly winds overnight will become North-Westerly and decrease through the morning to become light by the afternoon.

Comments

Some rain is forecast for the Torridon area on Monday followed by some more settled and milder conditions.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.