

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Friday 12/12/2025

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

A covering of thin superficial fresh snow is expected near summits. What remains of the old, limited and very patchy snowpack is high on North to East aspects above 1000m. There will be insufficient new snow to warrant an avalanche forecast.

Forecast Weather Influences

Rain turning to a little sleety snow overnight then dry, clear and brighter.

Comments

Some limited potential for rockfall in the vicinity of steep crags.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.