

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Saturday 28/03/2026

Avalanche Problems

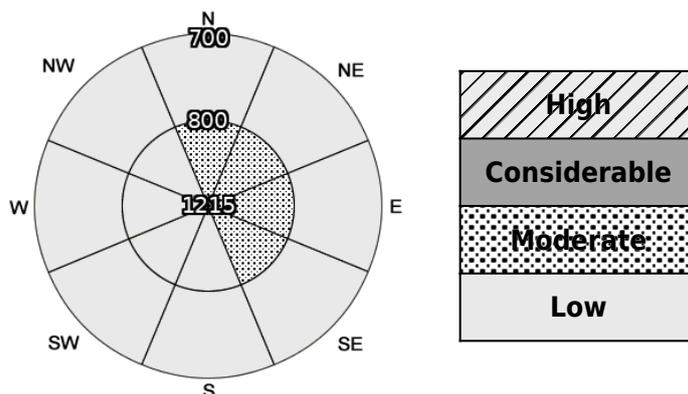

Wind Slab

Cornices

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

New fresh unstable windslab will develop mainly on North-East to South-East aspects above 800 metres. Minor amounts may also be encountered on both North and South aspect due to cross loading. Wind sheltered locations such as coire rims and gully tops will be most affected, particularly where accumulations develop over old snow. New unstable cornices will form. Old snow will become very firm and icy. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate

Forecast Weather Influences

Snowfall at all levels overnight with the freezing level rising to around 650 metres during the day. Strong winds West-South-West overnight, veering to West-North-West during the day.

Comments

Due to be very windy on Saturday. Old snow-ice will be firm and often icy.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.