

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE CONSIDERABLEAvalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 23/02/2010*Avalanche Problems*Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The loose snow instability will persist and is present on all very steep aspects above 800 metres. Loose snow avalanches are likely. The deeper snowpack is generally well bonded. Near surface there are layers of facets, forming weak bonds with adjacent layers. At this time they do not have critical load. The avalanche hazard will be Considerable

Forecast Weather Influences

The cold clear spell continues with light winds from the North-East veering to East later.

Comments

Best snow skiing conditions ever in Lochnagar anonymous. Also climbing reports for Shadow Buttress and Eagle Ridge.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.