

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE HIGH

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 30/03/2010

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Large quantities of fresh windslab will be deposited mainly on South to West aspects above 800 metres where avalanches will occur. Localised unstable deposits will also be present in other locations due to cross loading. Fresh cornices will be prone to collapse. The avalanche hazard will be High.

Forecast Weather Influences

Snow will fall overnight and through the day. Moderate Easterly winds will back to the North-East and strengthen. The freezing level will be around 250 metres.

Comments

Some wild and wintery weather expected. Old snow surface is soft and powdery and will present a weal layer when buried.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.