

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE CONSIDERABLEAvalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 21/12/2010*Avalanche Problems*Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The weakly bonded wind slab is mainly a concern on steep, convex, open and unsupported slopes above 750 metres on East through South to North-West aspects. The avalanche hazard will be Considerable

Forecast Weather Influences

No snow is forecast, cold temperatures will continue and winds will be light North-Westerly.

Comments

Some bigger lines being skied, be aware of convex rolls and weak zones.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.