

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 02/01/2011

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The cold and dry conditions will maintain a stable snowpack. The surface of much of the snowpack will be firm and icy. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

It will remain cold with no precipitation throughout the period. Winds will be fresh from a Northerly direction.

Comments

Cold and dry conditions will maintain a firm and icy melt freeze crust on much of the snowpack. Water courses starting to re-freeze on New Years Day.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.