

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE CONSIDERABLE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Friday 07/01/2011

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Snow will continue to drift overnight and form unstable windslab deposits on mainly North-East through East to Southerly aspects above 700 metres, this will be in addition to unstable windslab deposits that exist on many other aspects due to cross loading, steeper slopes, sheltered hollows and slopes will be particularly affected. The avalanche hazard will be Considerable

Forecast Weather Influences

Overnight any snow showers will die out. Winds will be West then light South Westerly in the day. Freezing at all levels.

Comments

Remaining cold but a fine day expected.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.