

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Monday 17/01/2011

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The wet snowpack will become better stabilised and develop a crust that will vary in thickness with altitude. Accumulations of new windslab may develop on steep North to East aspects which will be marginally stabilised where they acquire any depth. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate.

Forecast Weather Influences

Colder temperatures with light snow showers on moderate to strong South-Westerly winds

Comments

Freezing level falling to 750m on Monday.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.