

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE HIGH

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Saturday 19/02/2011

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Deep unstable windslab will exist in many sheltered areas such as deep hollows, gullies and on slopes with a West through North to Easterly aspect mainly above 600 metres, here Avalanches will occur and especially where deep accumulations of windslab have formed. The avalanche hazard will be High.

Forecast Weather Influences

Stormy conditions will affect the area overnight and for much of Saturday with severe gales from the South or South-East. There will be heavy snow overnight becoming occasional showers on Saturday. The freezing level will be 400 metres.

Comments

Windslab formations and cornices will be very weakly bonded after overnight stormy conditions. It will remain fairly windy through much of the day.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.