

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATEAvalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 25/12/2011*Avalanche Problems*Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Loose isolated snow instabilities will persist in areas with new thin snow cover, especially on steep Easterly aspects above 750 metres. It will remain generally stable on most other aspects where the snowpack is deeper. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate

Forecast Weather Influences

The warm weather trend will prevail with high freezing levels, very strong Westerly winds, and periods of rain.

Comments

Full depth avalanches possible due to persistent rain, particularly on smooth heather ground and rock slab terrain.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.