

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 12/02/2012

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The existing snowpack will gradually stabilise as the freezing level drops. No significant new snow accumulations are expected. Snow stability will be generally good. The avalanche hazard will be Low

Forecast Weather Influences

The freezing level is expected to lower to around 900 metres. Very light snow flurries and light winds.

Comments

Colder conditions should help improve climbing

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.