

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 14/02/2012

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Small and generally avoidable areas of windslab will be deposited on East to South aspects above 1000 metres. Elsewhere stability will generally be good. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate.

Forecast Weather Influences

After a dry night some light precipitation, which will fall as snow over the tops, is expected during the day. The freezing level will be around 900 metres.

Comments

Lots of people out climbing/walking/skiing today.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.