

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE CONSIDERABLE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 19/02/2012

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Areas of unstable windslab will continue to form in areas sheltered from the North-West winds. Greatest accumulations will be on steep East, South-East and South aspects above 900 metres. Wind scoured slopes will be stable. The avalanche hazard will be Considerable.

Forecast Weather Influences

Strong North-West winds will continue overnight and back Westerly during the day. Snow showers at all levels.

Comments

Remaining cold during Sunday

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.