

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOWAvalanche Hazard Forecast for Friday 02/03/2012*Avalanche Problems*Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The snow pack will remain generally well bonded and stable with some lingering cornice instabilities on steep North to East aspects above 850 metres. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

Overnight winds will be Southerly with some moderate sleet showers expected. Later in the forecast period winds will become strong with a freezing level of 1700 metres.

Comments

Loose rocks and debris noted in gullies.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.