

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 13/03/2012

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The remaining snowpack will be generally stable on all but the very steepest slopes where surface wet snow instabilities may exist. Any surviving cornices will remain weak. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

Remaining mild with freezing levels above the summits, Light drizzle may affect the area. Winds will be fresh from the West.

Comments

Remaining mild with light drizzle. Hazard of rockfall will exist.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.