

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Friday 22/02/2013

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

A very light dusting of snow is possible but little significant change expected. Stability will remain excellent in all locations. The avalanche hazard will be Low

Forecast Weather Influences

Cold with a possibility of some very light isolated snow showers. Perhaps more cloud cover during the day. Winds will be moderate South Easterly, becoming light and variable.

Comments

Meggie car park almost full again today. A fair number of walkers and climbers out and about enjoying superb mountain conditions.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.