

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 05/03/2013

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Little change is expected in the snowpack. Above 800 metres the snowpack will remain hard and icy. Below this level it will soften slightly. Stability will remain good in all locations. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

It will remain dry with a freezing level of around 800 metres. Winds will again be light.

Comments

Another dry calm day expected on Tuesday before a change to wetter and windier conditions on Wednesday.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.