

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 12/03/2013

Avalanche Problems

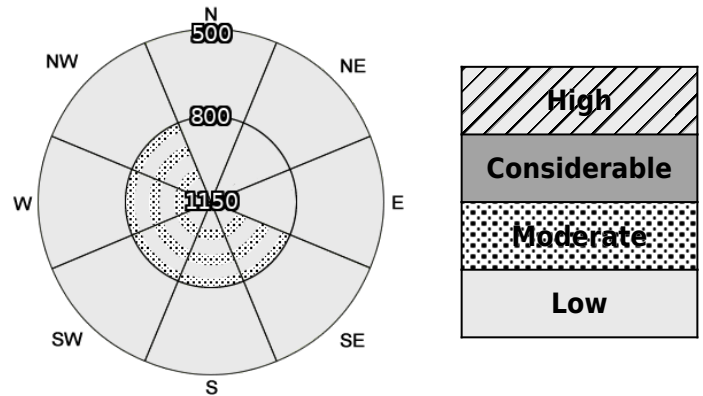

Wind Slab

Persistent Weak Layers

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Little change is expected in the snowpack. In general it will be firm and stable, but with some areas of moderately bonded windslab on South-East through South and West to North-West aspects above 800 metres. Although this windslab will generally be shallow, a few deeper deposits will exist. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate.

Forecast Weather Influences

It will remain cold and dry. The freezing level will rise to about 500 metres during the day. Moderate winds will be from the North.

Comments

Little change is weather of snowpack conditions expected over the next couple of days.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.