

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Saturday 05/04/2014

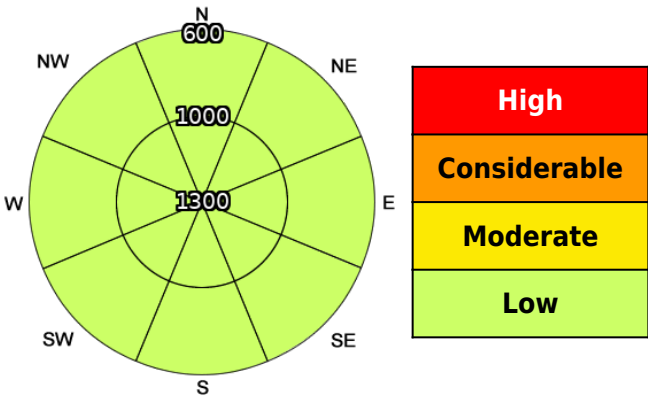

Avalanche Problems

Cornices

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The snowpack will continue to thaw at all levels but remain generally well bonded and stable on all aspects and altitudes. Cornices will be prone to spontaneous collapse. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

Mild with moderate to strong South-Westerly winds. Some light rain is expected during the afternoon.

Comments

Overhanging cornices and rockfall a potential hazard.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.