

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 15/03/2015

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The snowpack will further stabilise and existing accumulations will become well bonded and stable in all locations. Large old cornices still persist over steep lee slopes. The avalanche hazard will be Low

Forecast Weather Influences

Little change. A ridge of high pressure will maintain dry settled conditions with some fluctuating temperatures dropping freezing levels to well below summits. Winds will be generally light to fresh East-South-Easterly.

Comments

Another blue sky day with settled conditions

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.