

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 17/03/2015

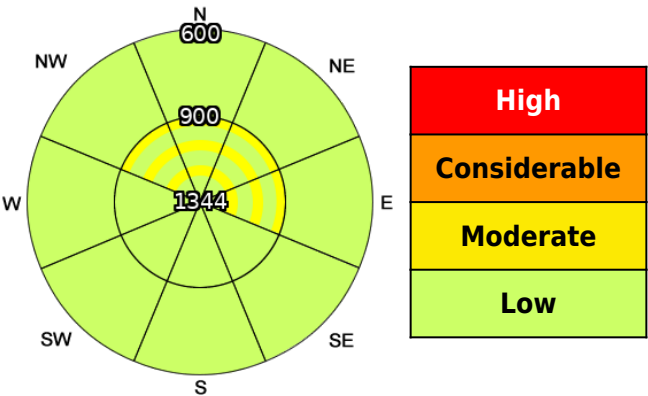

Avalanche Problems

Persistent Weak Layers

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Localised areas of unstable snow will be present mainly on some steep North-West, North and North-East aspects above 900m. Distribution will be variable and accumulations will be avoidable. Elsewhere, snowpack stability will be generally good. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate

Forecast Weather Influences

Decreasing strength South-Easterly winds with the freeing level around 700m. Occasional light snow showers.

Comments

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.