

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 20/12/2015

Avalanche Problems

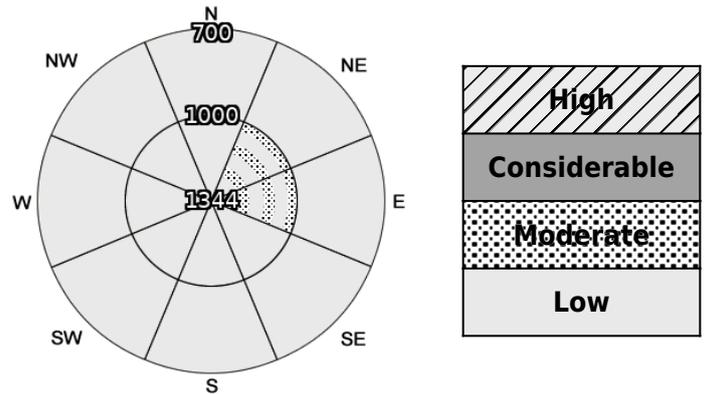

Wind Slab

Wet Snow

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The old snowpack will become firmer in all locations. Some soft windslab is possible on very steep North- East to East aspects above 1000m but accumulations expected to be thin and localised. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate

Forecast Weather Influences

Showers dying out overnight and winds moderating. Winds increasing from early morning accompanied by increasing numbers of showers, these falling as snow above 1000m

Comments

Very strong winds over the summits, steady thaw continuing.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.