

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Saturday 12/03/2016

Avalanche Problems

Persistent Weak Layers

Wet Snow

Cornices

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The snowpack will continue to thaw at all levels. The snowpack will be moist and generally soft with instabilities mainly restricted to steep terrain on North-East to South-East aspects above 900 metres. Isolated instabilities will also be found on other aspects above 900 metres and also below this level on North-East to South-East aspects. Cornice collapse will also be a significant hazard. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate.

Forecast Weather Influences

The freezing level will remain well above the summits with further rain at all levels.

Comments

Debris noted within Lochnagar corrie today. Many cornices remain in place.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.