

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 20/03/2016

Avalanche Problems

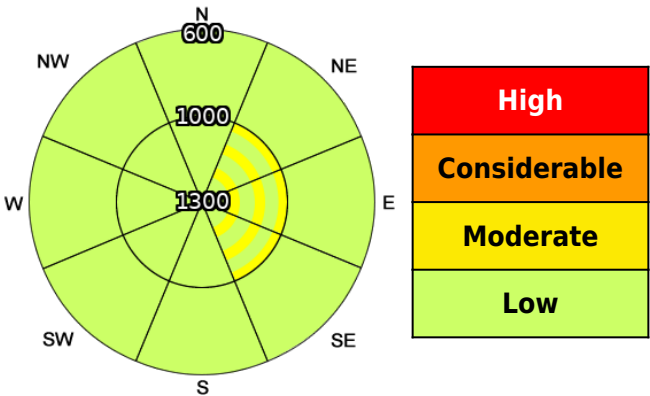

Wind Slab

Cornices

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The old snowpack will remain generally well bonded and stable in all locations. Localised accumulations of windslab will develop on North-East to South-East aspects above 1000 metres mainly around corrie rims and gully exists. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate

Forecast Weather Influences

Some snow flurries expected above 750 metres. Light North-Westerly winds will increase to moderate through the day. The general freezing level will dip to around 1000 metres; however cooler layers will persist below this altitude.

Comments

Light snowfall arriving during Saturday evening

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.