

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 03/01/2017

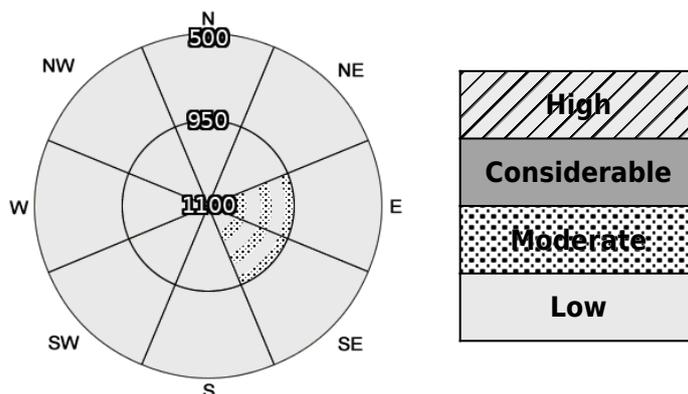

Avalanche Problems

Wind Slab

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Good stability on the old exposed snowpack. A few localised patches of moderately bonded moist windslab on some steep East to South East aspects above 950m. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate

Forecast Weather Influences

Dry and cold overnight. Freezing level rising during the day to around summits with sleety snow showers from the early morning. Strong Westerly later West North Westerly winds.

Comments

Limited confidence in location and timing of precip amounts.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.