

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Wednesday 15/02/2017

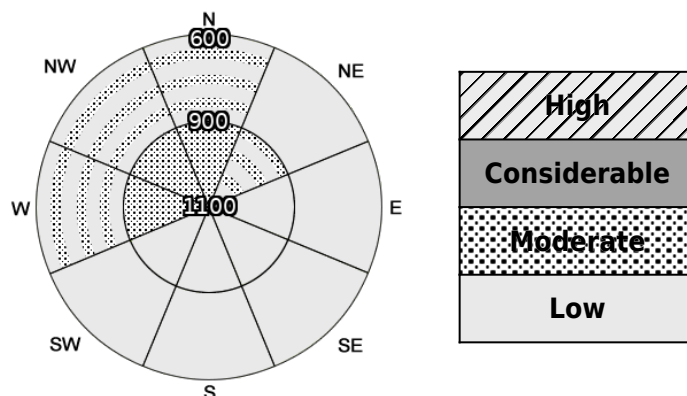

Avalanche Problems

Persistent Weak Layers

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Instability will persist on very steep West to North aspects above 900m with localised instability on some selected North-East aspects above the same altitude. Further consolidation expected in patches of windslab present on most other aspects. Good stability on exposed areas of snow-ice. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate

Forecast Weather Influences

No precipitation is forecast. Becoming progressively milder. Strong South-South-East winds.

Comments

Milder outlook for Thursday and Friday.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.