

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOWAvalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 19/02/2017*Avalanche Problems*Wet Snow*Cornices*Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The patchy snowpack will continue to thaw and soften but will remain generally well bonded on all aspects. Remaining cornices will be prone to collapse. Rock fall will also be a hazard. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

Overnight there will be some light rain but thereafter dry. The freezing levels will be above the summits. Westerly winds will be strong during the day

Comments

Continuing to thaw but will be dry throughout the day.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.