

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 28/03/2017

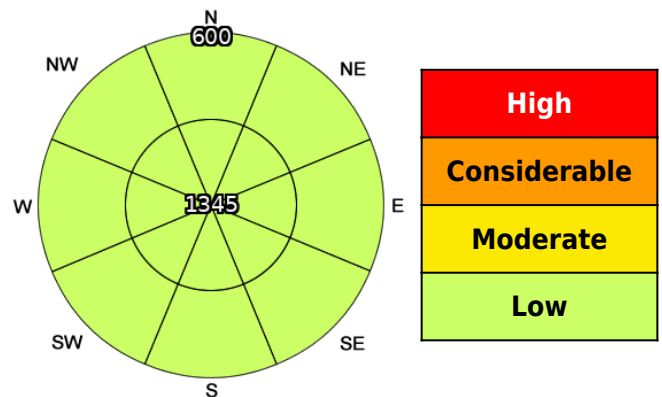

Avalanche Problems

Cornices

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The snowpack will generally be well bonded and stable. Wet snow surface instabilities will be present on some steep slopes exposed to the sun. Remaining cornices will be prone to collapse in the warm temperatures. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

Dry with light variable winds. Freezing level above the summits.

Comments

Cornice collapse, ice fall and rock fall remain hazards in the warm conditions.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.