

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE CONSIDERABLE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Friday 05/01/2018

Avalanche Problems

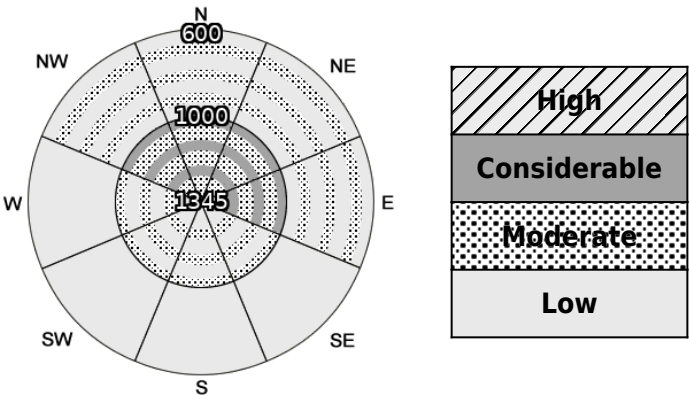

Wind Slab

Persistent Weak Layers

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Localised areas of unstable windslab will be present on many aspects above 900m. As the day progresses, existing instabilities will be redistributed onto South, South-West and West aspects. The avalanche hazard will be Considerable

Forecast Weather Influences

Light snow showers above 400m are expected with an increasing North-Easterly wind

Comments

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.