

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE MODERATE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 14/01/2018

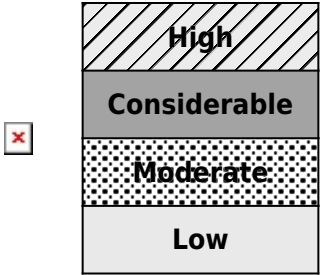

Avalanche Problems

Persistent Weak Layers

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Localised areas of unstable snow will be present on many aspects above 900 metres. Distribution and amounts will be very variable. The avalanche hazard will be Moderate

Forecast Weather Influences

Strong Southerly winds will strengthen further during the day. It will be mostly dry with the freezing level around 900 metres.

Comments

Warm and wet weather spreading in from the West later on Sunday

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.