

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 11/03/2018

Avalanche Problems

Persistent Weak Layers

Cornices

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The snowpack will continue to slowly thaw with generally good stability on all aspects. Any remaining cornices and icefalls will be prone to collapse. Sun exposed aspects will soften later in the day and some sloughing can be expected. The avalanche hazard will be Low

Forecast Weather Influences

Easterly winds easing overnight, becoming light by the afternoon and South-Easterly in direction. A few light showers overnight falling increasingly as rain as the freezing level rises to above the summits during the night and tomorrow.

Comments

A better day tomorrow but much milder. The snowpack may be quite firm where it lies on the higher summits.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.