

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Wednesday 26/12/2018

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The snowpack will further soften and deplete and be confined to high coire rims and a few gully exits, these on mainly North to East aspects. Although moist, the little which remains is generally stable. The avalanche hazard will be Low

Forecast Weather Influences

Staying mild with some rain showers during the day. The winds will be South-South-Westerly to start becoming South-West. The freezing level will remain above the summits throughout

Comments

Falling ice a potential hazard in some Post Face gully areas. Not good as far as winter spots are concerned!

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.