

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Wednesday 26/12/2018

Avalanche Problems

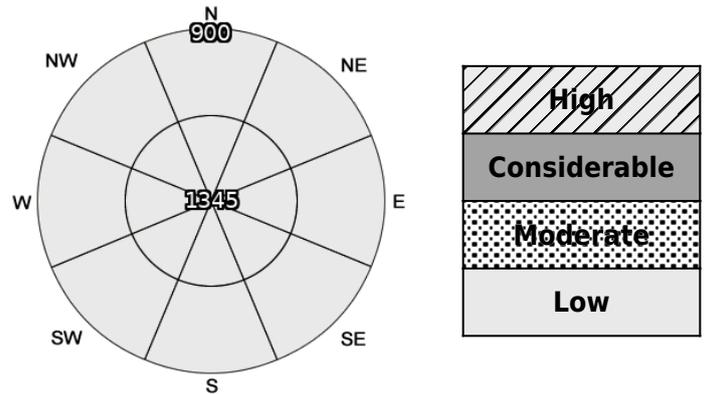

Wet Snow

Cornices

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The snowpack will continue to gradually thaw at all levels, however stability will be generally good. Any cornice remnants will become unstable and prone to collapse. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

It will be warm with light rain at all levels during the day. Moderate South Westerly winds over the summits.

Comments

A damp day in prospect. Hazard of falling ice from steep ground

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.