

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Wednesday 09/01/2019

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Any new drifted accumulations on South aspects above 1000 metres expected to be negligible. Sporadic older snow patches will remain frozen and stable. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

A few light overnight snow showers are possible. Remaining cold overnight, less cold during the day. Moderate Northerly winds falling to light later.

Comments

Hill tops look white but new snow cover at altitude was very modest on Tuesday.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.