

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Tuesday 26/02/2019

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

The snowpack will remain patchy in distribution with the main deposits on North to East aspects above 900 metres. This snow will continue to thaw and consolidate. Stability will remain generally good. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

It will remain mild and, although some light drizzle is possible, mostly dry.

Comments

Mild conditions expected to continue for a while yet.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.