

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE LOW

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Friday 18/12/2020

Avalanche Problems

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Any remaining patches will be moist but stable. The avalanche hazard will be Low.

Forecast Weather Influences

Southerly winds will be strong, summit gusts in excess of 50 mph with the freezing level above the summits throughout the forecast period. Light rain initially will clear during the night, predominantly dry during the day, becoming wet later.

Comments

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.