

THE AVALANCHE HAZARD WILL BE CONSIDERABLE

Avalanche Hazard Forecast for Sunday 09/01/2022

Avalanche Problems

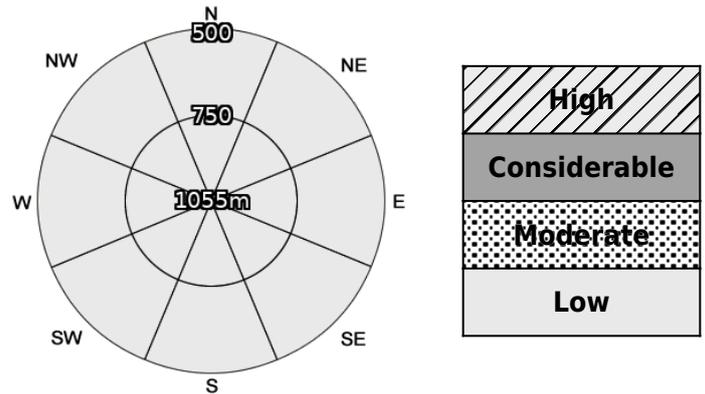

Wind Slab

Cornices

Forecast Snow Stability & Avalanche Hazard

Fresh unstable windslab will add to existing deposits with greatest accumulations on North to East aspects above 900 metres. Fragile cornices will be present above these aspects. Slopes exposed to the wind will be generally stable. The avalanche hazard will be Considerable.

Forecast Weather Influences

Moderate South-West winds will slowly back to become Easterly and ease through the period. Snow showers overnight and in the morning. Freezing level around 600 metres rising to 800 metres.

Comments

Milder conditions expected on Monday.

View the latest avalanche report

Scan the QR code to view the full Avalanche Hazard Report on the SAIS website.